

Department of Social Work
University of Kashmir

Programme and Course outcomes of the New Courses Offered by the Department of Social Work (2019 onwards)

NEW COURSES INTRODUCED

Course Code	Course Title	Brief Description
SW21306DCE	Counselling Theory and Practice	Counseling Theory and Practice courses address skill development by teaching students effective therapeutic techniques, communication skills, and ethical considerations. This positively impacts students by preparing them with practical skills for counseling roles and enhancing their ability to support individuals in various settings.
SW21306DCE	Disability Studies	Disability studies course can empower students to contribute to positive change, promote inclusivity, and advocate for the rights and well-being of individuals with disabilities in their specific communities.
SW21404DCE	Research Dissertation	This course was introduced to prepare the students who are oriented towards the research. The students opting this course will have foundation in social work research.

COURSES ADDRESSING LOCAL NEEDS:

Course Code	Course Title	Brief Description
SW21104CR	Social Problems	Social Problems courses contribute to addressing local needs by equipping students with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes needed to engage with and contribute positively to their communities. Through a combination of theory, practical experiences, and critical reflection, this course prepare individuals to make meaningful and sustainable contributions to addressing various social problems at the local level.
SW21204CR	Rural Development	Rural development course aims to equip students with a holistic understanding of rural contexts and the tools needed to contribute meaningfully to the development of local communities. The practical and theoretical knowledge gained through such courses can empower individuals to address local needs and work towards sustainable and inclusive rural development.
SW212305DCE	Disability Studies	Disability studies course can empower students to contribute to positive change, promote inclusivity, and advocate for the rights and well-being of individuals with disabilities in their specific communities.
SW21002GE	Children: Rights and Protection	Children's Rights and Protection course can empower students to contribute to the well-being and protection of children in their local communities. The focus on local needs ensures that interventions are contextually relevant and responsive to the specific challenges faced by children in a given community.

COURSES ADDRESSING REGIONAL NEEDS:

Course Code	Course Title	Brief Description
SW21104CR	Social Problems	Social Problems course can better equip students to understand, analyze, and contribute to the resolution of the specific challenges faced by communities in a particular region.
SW21204CR	Rural Development	Rural Development course can effectively address regional needs and empower students to contribute meaningfully to the sustainable development of rural areas within a specific geographic context. It also augments in executing major programs like MGNREGA, NRLM, SBM, PMGSY etc
SW212305DCE	Disability Studies	A disability studies course can address regional needs by incorporating local case studies, engaging with regional stakeholders, and tailoring content to the unique cultural and societal contexts of the region.
SW21002GE	Children: Rights and Protection	A Children's Rights and Protection course addresses regional needs by incorporating local laws, cultural sensitivity, and community engagement, ensuring that students understand and respond effectively to the unique challenges faced by children in the specific region.
SW21404CR	Social Work in Correctional Services	Social Work in Correctional Services addresses regional needs by tailoring interventions to local legal frameworks and community challenges. It positively impacts students by providing practical skills in working with incarcerated individuals and promoting rehabilitation within the specific regional context

COURSES ADDRESSING GLOBAL NEEDS

Course Code	Course Title	Brief Description
SW21105DCE	State and Political Economy	State and Political Economy courses address global needs by examining international economic relations, governance structures, and policy implications. This positively impacts students by fostering a global perspective, preparing them for roles in international affairs and policymaking.
SW21206DCE	Social Movements	Social Movements courses address global needs by exploring the dynamics of social change, activism, and their impact on state structures worldwide. This positively impacts students by fostering a nuanced understanding of global social movements and preparing them to engage in advocacy and policymaking on a global scale. the knowledge of movements like LGBTQ, right to health and environment.
SW21203CR	Community Work	Community Work in Social Work addresses global needs by emphasizing the role of state institutions and community-based interventions in addressing social issues. This positively impacts students by instilling a global perspective, enabling them to apply effective social work strategies in diverse cultural and societal contexts.

COURSES WITH EMPLOYABILITY/ ENTREPRENEURSHIP/ SKILL DEVELOPMENT VALUE.

Course Code	Course Title	Brief Description
SW21204CR	Rural Development	Rural Development courses enhance employability by equipping students with skills in policy analysis, project management, and community engagement. This positively impacts students by making them competitive candidates for positions in government, NGOs, and development agencies focused on rural development.
SW21203CR	Community Work	Community Work courses enhance employability by providing students with skills in community engagement, policy analysis, and social intervention. This positively impacts students by preparing them for roles in government, nonprofits, and community-based organizations.
SW21202CR	Social Work Research	Social Work Research course address skill development by teaching students research methodologies, data analysis, and critical thinking. This positively impacts students by equipping them with the skills to conduct evidence-based practice, contribute to the field, and enhance their problem-solving abilities.
SW21306DCE	Counselling Theory and Practice	Counseling Theory and Practice courses address skill development by teaching students effective therapeutic techniques, communication skills, and ethical considerations. This positively impacts students by preparing them with practical skills for counseling roles and enhancing their ability to support individuals in various settings.

COURSES ADDRESSING PROFESSIONAL ETHICS/ GENDER/ HUMAN VALUES/
ENVIRONMENT/ SUSTAINABILITY & OTHER VALUE FRAMEWORK
ENSHRINED IN NEP2020/ETC.

Course Code	Course Title	Brief Description
SW18101CR	History and Philosophy of Social Work	The History and Philosophy of Social Work course addresses professional ethics by providing students with a historical and philosophical foundation for ethical practice. This positively impacts students by instilling a deep understanding of ethical principles and values, guiding their ethical decision-making in social work practice. It helps students become acquainted to different professional codes of ethics like NASW, NAPS, WIECOE etc
SW18305DCE	HRM and Labour Welfare	The Human Resource Management and Labor Welfare course address professional ethics by emphasizing fair labor practices, employee rights, and equitable treatment. This positively impacts students by instilling a sense of ethical responsibility in managing human resources and fostering a workplace environment based on integrity and fairness.
SW18302CR	Social Welfare Management	Social Welfare Management courses address professional ethics by instilling ethical leadership and decision-making principles. This positively impacts students by preparing them to manage social welfare programs responsibly and uphold ethical standards in their professional roles.

GENDER

Course Code	Course Title	Brief Description
SW21104CR	Social Problems	Social Problems courses address gender issues by analyzing their societal impact, examining inequalities, and fostering awareness. This influences students by promoting a critical understanding of gender dynamics and encouraging advocacy for gender equity in various social contexts.
SW21002OE	Women in Every Day Life	Women in Everyday Life courses address gender issues by examining the lived experiences of women in various contexts. This influences students by fostering a nuanced understanding of gender dynamics and encouraging reflection on the everyday challenges and contributions of women in society.
SW21102GE	Children: Rights and Protection	Children: Rights and Protection courses address gender issues by examining how gender impacts the rights and protection of children. This influences students by promoting awareness of gender-specific challenges faced by children and encouraging advocacy for gender-inclusive policies and interventions.

COURSES FOCUSING ON HUMAN VALUES

Course Code	Course Title	Brief Description
SW21101CR	History and Philosophy of Social Work	History and Philosophy of Social Work courses address human value issues by exploring the ethical foundations and historical context of social work practice. This influences students by grounding them in values such as social justice and compassion, guiding their ethical decision-making and professional conduct.
Environmental Issues
SW21001OE	Environment and Social Work	The Environment and Social Work course addresses environmental issues by integrating ecological perspectives into social work practice. It challenges students by emphasizing the interconnection between environmental sustainability and social justice, encouraging them to develop interventions that consider both human and environmental well-being. Course emphasizes on issues of Climate change and adherence techniques for societies on SDGs
Sustainability
SW21001OE	Environment and Social Work	The Environment and Social Work course addresses environmental issues by integrating ecological perspectives into social work practice. It challenges students by emphasizing the interconnection between environmental sustainability and social justice, encouraging them to develop interventions that consider both human and environmental well-being. Course emphasizes on issues of Climate change and adherence techniques for societies on SDGs
OTHER VALUE FRAMEWORK ENshrined IN NEP2020/ETC
SW21304CR	Perspectives in Development	A Perspectives in Development course addresses value frameworks, including those enshrined in policies like NEP2020, by critically examining their impact on development strategies. It challenges students to analyze diverse value systems and understand their implications, fostering a nuanced understanding of development and encouraging critical thinking about the values embedded in policy frameworks.
SW21105DCE	State and Political Economy	The State and Political Economy course addresses value frameworks like those in NEP2020 by critically evaluating their impact on economic policies and governance. It fosters students to analyze diverse values, fostering a nuanced understanding of political economy and encouraging critical examination of the values embedded in policy frameworks.

